GLEANINGS    October 2017

I was looking through some old Numismatic Society newsletters this week to see what was happening 20 years ago, here's what I found:

1997's 64 members included numismatic notables such as Kenneth Bressett, Steve D'Ippolito, Richard Goudie, Barbara Gregory, Ken & Tom Hallenbeck, Robert Hoge, Ed Rochette, Gerome Walton, and Adna Wilde. They all lived in Colorado Springs! I'm sure the ANA contributed to this, but how many cities our size had would have such a concentration of numismatists? Of course, all our members are notable, but not all garner national recognition.

A few highlights from 1997 included:

- Typical attendance was 12 - 14 members, with at least 6 door prizes handed out. (Our 2017 attendance is 2 - 3 times that many)
- Dues were $2 per year.
- The club voted to allocate $150 for the non-profit, tax exempt application fee, because the Coin Show rent for the City Auditorium would be cheaper with tax-exempt status. 501(c)(3) status was granted that year.
- The 1997 Coin Show, held July 11 - 13, sold 93 tables to 74 dealers
- A Quiz at the June program put together by Steve D., containing no questions on Russian numismatics, was won by John B.
- The Secretary's expenses for the year totaled $400.17 with the majority going to door prizes. Then gold was around $287 per ounce and silver about $5 - $6 per ounce. Now 3 month's expenses are close to $400.

Winning and interesting Exhibits during the year included:

- William S. "Soviet Medals" a variety of commemorative medals of Russian space ventures. (March)
- Adna W. "Australian Polymer Issues" the complete series of polymer notes $5, $10, $20, and $100 (April)
- Ken H. "Counterfeits" shipwreck bars made of fiberglass and coin cluster cast copies. (October)
- George M. "Real Estate Piece" W.W.Walter & Co. piece for a free lot in Downers Grove Estates, Illinois (October)

For context, some of the year's world events were the deaths of Princess Diana and Mother Theresa; OJ Simpson lost the civil wrongful death case; scientists in Scotland cloned the first mammal, Dolly the sheep; Titanic movie and Internet Explorer 4 were released; and Mars Pathfinder landed on Mars.
